June 1992

OTPA leads the effort to Save the Queen. A Queen Anne cottage located at 152 Cypress St. needs to be relocated in order for the land to be developed. Owner will donate the house to OTPA but finding available land within the historic district appears problematic. One possibility is a lot on Almond and Pixley.

The Preserves newsletter goes from a quarterly to a monthly edition

July

Queen Anne's future looks bleak. OTPA is told that the site on Almond & Pixley is contaminated. (Interesting since there is now senior housing on the same site! We're told that a man eventually bought the house, had it cut into two to transport to a storage area in Tustin. Unfortunately, we heard that he went through a divorce and no one knows the whereabouts of the Queen Anne.)

November

The City rejects a moratorium on building more apartments in Old Towne while awaiting a city review of a rezoning request for the historic district.
